

Terms of Use

1. The EARS Equipment Library is a collection of amateur radio related equipment that has been donated by members so that it can be lent out to members for a period of time of up to a year so that you can try out new modes or borrow test equipment without having to make a sizable investment first.
2. Lenders will submit a written request for items which will include an agreement to return the item to the library in good condition or make an effort to repair an item if it has been damaged. Lenders will certify that they have the necessary FCC license grade to use or operate the equipment if it is capable of radio frequency emission.
3. Lenders will not alter or modify the equipment.
4. K3EMD offers this service as a service to its members as a courtesy and is under no obligation to guarantee positive results.
